Instructions: Listen to an individual presentation and apply the presentation skills and the language knowledge you have gained from the coursework to give constructive comments (การวิจารณ์เชิงสร้างสรรค์) on the presentation. As illustrated in the table located below, your comments will include the following 5 respective areas of the presentation: (1) the system, (2) the manner, (3) the body language, (4) the visual aids, and (5) the language. The second column of the tables below also displays the details of the relevant presentation aspects as the guidelines for your critiquing task. You may take notes of your friend's presentation performance in the third columns during the presentation. Finally, under the fourth table, you will see the last box in which you may write your overall impression of the presentation. Hand in these critiquing sheets to the instructor at the end of the presentation.
